Carriage and Automobile traffic.

There are many good roads in Tyrol which offer splendid opportunities for extended tours by carriage, automobile and bicycle. (See page 20). During the tourist season when the trains are overcrowded, many prefer this means of travelling which enable them better to enjoy the beauties of the country.

Regular diligences, omnibusses and motor-busses run between those places not connected by railways.

Money.

The monetary unit of 1 Krone = 100 Heller.

Accommodation.

The best of accommodation is provided for all classes of travellers in Tyrol. Its first class hotels offer every comfort and luxury to the most exacting public, and there are numerous second class hotels and well managed inns to suit all purses.

The genuine hospitality and hearty welcome met with throughout Tyrol is universally well known. The Tyrolean food is excellent. In the large Hotels Viennese and French cooking is customary. The Tyrolean red wine, known among the inhabitants as "Reathl" is good and cheap (about twopence half a pint). The beer brewed in Tyrol is very good, and is served from the cask in all better class inns (about twopence a pint). Munich and Pilsner Beer is to be had at all hotels. Pension prices vary between 5—15 Kronen according to the class of Hotel. Most of the huts and shelters of the German and Austrian Alpine Club are equally as well conducted as the inns in the valleys and the prices are pretty much the same.

Language.

The language of Tyrol is German. In the Southern parts of the country from Salurn to Lake Garda Italian is spoken. English and French is spoken in all large hotels.

Passports.

Passports are not absolutely necessary, yet it is advisable for travellers to be provided with one, as registered letters and money orders can only be claimed upon producing the passport of the addressee.

Information Bureaus.

Information Bureaus in which travellers receive gratis all kinds of information, and where railway tickets are issued, are in Innsbruck at the corner of the Landhaus- and Karlstrasse. In Bozen Waltherplatz 7 and in Meran, Rufenplatz. Information offices in Schwaz, Brixen, Kössen, Kufstein, and Lana. The head office of the Landesverband für Fremdenverkehr is in Adamgasse No. 9, Innsbruck, where all enquiries by letter are attended to and where prospectuses and the "Tiroler Verkehrs and Hotel Buch" are to be had.

Reschen-See and Ortler.

Baths and Springs.

Nature has richly endowed the Tyrol with many medicinal springs of great natural curative powers, mineral waters containing iron, sulphur and sulphuric acid of great efficacy in the treatment of anemia, malaria, nervous diseases, general debility and skin diseases. These waters are most efficacious as drinking cures in raising the vitality of the entire system, as well as by their specific influence on a great many latent diseases.

The Roncegno and Levico strong springs are undoubtedly the richest of all arsenical iron springs known, and possess the largest quantity of any proto-sulphate of iron in conjunction with anhydrite of arsenious acid, blended in its natural form as supplied by nature.

The following is an analysis of Roncegno's Water, and the results founded by the "Lancet's" analysis perfectly agree with those of Prof. Nasini.

The water contains per Litre:

Arsenic Acid grammes 0.0569 (or $\frac{1}{4}$ grain per Pint), Persulphate of Iron grammes 2.874 (or 11 grains per Pint), Sulphate of Sodium grammes 0.870, Sulphate of Calcium 0.874.

The following is an analysis of the mineral water drawn from the Levico springs. 10,000 gr. of the water contain:

Anhydrite of arsenic acid	0.060 gr.
Sulphate of manganese	0.145 gr.
Protosulphate of iron	46.027 gr.
Sulphuric acid free	16.660 gr.

Other sulphate of iron baths are Mitterbad, the springs of Froy, Verdins, St. Isidor and Ratzes.

The thermal springs, whose efficacy in the treatment of nervous diseases is greatly increased by the high altitude of the health resorts, are Brenner-Bad (4,420 ft.), with springs of 23 degrees Celsius, and Hinterdux (4,980 ft.), with springs of 22.5 degrees Celsius.

The brine baths of Hall (containing 255.2 chloride of sodium in 1 Litter), and those of Heiligkreuz are renowned for the treatment of rheumatism and various kinds of diseases. The invigorating mountain air of Hall greatly contributes towards the cure.

There are sulphur baths in Bergfall, Innichen, Ladis, Längenfeld, Obladis, Ratzes etc.

There are several mineral springs in Tyrol containing a rich quantity of carbonic acid. Others again containing chloride of sodium, protosulphate of iron, magnesium, lime, and acid sulphate of sodium. These ingredients vary according to the district in which they are found.

These mineral springs are found in Alprags, Bachgart, Mieders, Neuprags, Obladis, Volderbad, Waldbrunn. Saline springs are found in Baumkirchen, Dreikirchen, Grünmoos, Gries, Medratz and Mieders.

The difference between the altitudes of the Tyrolean springs viz. from 230 ft. to 7,300 ft. above the level of the sea, the change from the luxury of large towns to rural simplicity, the balneological diversity of the mineral waters and baths afford doctors endless scope for the treatment of their patients and their various diseases when recommending a journey to this beautiful country of Tyrol.

List of Baths and their Healing Powers.

Alkaline springs: Alprags, Bachgart, Cortina near St. Vigil, Egerdach, Grins near Landeck, Jungbrunn, Mieders, Neuprags, Obladis, Verdins, Volderbad.

Air cures: Light, air and sun baths: Riva.

Birgitz Alm.

Sport in Tyrol.

In a mountainous country like Tyrol the tourist will find every wish of his heart gratified.

Its lakes and rivers offer every opportunity for indulging in the pleasures of rowing and swimming. Hunting and fishing (mostly trout) are to be had everywhere.

Riding horses are let on hire in all larger villages and towns and Alpine hotels. There are gentlemen's riding clubs in Innsbruck and Meran. The Innsbruck riding club has a convenient covered riding school. In Meran horse races are held twice a year.

Tennis courts are laid out in the grounds of all better class hotels. There are several very fine courts in Innsbruck, Meran, Bozen, Roncigno and Igls, Kitzbühel, Karersee, Gossensass. Tennis tournaments are frequently held in these places, which are visited by many of the best players on the continent. Smaller tournaments are held in Gossensass, Kitzbühel and Ehrwald.

In Innsbruck, Meran and Igls there are football and hockey grounds. There is a foot-ball and hockey club in Innsbruck and Meran, and during the year several matches take place with the clubs of other towns. There are golf links in Meran, Karersee and in some other Alpine hotel grounds.

In Innsbruck are the head-quarters of the Tyrol Motor Club. The excellent high roads throughout the country greatly facilitate the pleasures of motoring. Cycling is largely indulged in. Throughout the country there are cycle clubs branch clubs of the central Tyrol Cycle Club Innsbruck.

Winter sports have made rapid strides throughout Tyrol in recent years.

Kitzbühel possesses a ski-ing ground universally acknowledged to be the best in Europe by experienced winter-sportsmen from far and near. In Kitzbühel, as well as in St. Anton on the Arlberg, the condition of the snow is far superior to that of other winter sport places in Europe. The finest skating-rink of the whole empire is in Innsbruck which was fully completed last year by the erection of a skating pavilion. There are bobsleigh-runs in Kufstein, Kitzbühel, Igls, Kufstein, Hall and Gossensass. The runs in Kitzbühel and Kufstein are in consequence of their high ice curves, very interesting. In Kufstein are three well-kept toboggan-runs. Nearly every winter-sport place offers opportunity for skating.

All the above mentioned places command most beautiful winter panoramas, and have very good roads and sleigh courses for sleighing.

The Brenner, Steinach, Wipptal, Kössen, Wörgl-Wildschönau (ski-jumping-hill), Unterinntal and Ampezzotal (mild climate), the Grödnertal, Seiseralpe, the Fleimtal, the Ritten, Malser Heide, Ehrwald-Lermoos in Ausserfern and Pustertal with its side valleys, have all good ski-ing grounds and most favourable conditions of the snow.

Besides in the above mentioned places, there are long toboggan runs in: Hall (the famous Haller toboggan-run), Schwaz, Sterzing, Igls, Mutters, St. Ulrich, Kastelruth, and smaller toboggan runs are nearly everywhere.

Winter Sport fêtes are held in Innsbruck, Igls, Kitzbühel, St. Anton, St. Christof on the Arlberg, Kufstein and Gossensass.

Further information of other winter-sport places will be found in the second part of this book as well as in the pamphlets published each winter by the Landesverband für Fremdenverkehr.

These winter-sport pamphlets contain information for members of winter sport clubs respecting reduced fares and the transport of winter-sport effects etc.

Guide Tariff.

The guide tariff of all districts of Tyrol are published in booklet form, and are to be had at all booksellers, or at the section of the German and Austrian Alpine club, Innsbruck, Leopoldstrasse 15. In Bozen, Hotel Mondschein. Many of them are on tablets in the Inns and Hotels.

Motor Traffic.

Motor traffic is regulated throughout Austria by the Ministry Ordinance of 28th. April 1910.

Motorists coming from countries represented at the Paris Convention of October 11th. 1909, must be provided with an international passport and a permit for Austria as well as the permit of their own country.

The passport must be signed by the custom house official on entering and leaving Austria. The passport is available for one year dating from day of issue.

In order to exempt them from duty motorists should be provided with a pass (Triptyques) otherwise the duty must be deposited which can be reclaimed on leaving the country. Those Motorists coming from countries not represented at the Paris Convention, or who do not possess any international legitimation must submit their motors for inspection by the Austrian provincial government in whose district they happen to be, within 8 days of arrival.

On entering Austria motorists obtain the permits from the custom house official. These permits must be shown whenever requested.

Motorists receive from the custom house official a number plate and the letter „Z“ in red colour which must be attached to their cars. All other numbers and letters must be covered or removed. These number plates are available for 8 days only.

When after inspection of the motor-car the permit has been granted, the owner has to apply at the police office for number plate and letter. The examining inspectors appointed by the provincial government of Tyrol and Vorarlberg are :

Dr. Emil Mutschlechner, k. k. Statthaltereii-Ingenieur Innsbruck ; Leopold Bichler, Apotheker, Innsbruck ; Adolf Bier, Vicepräsident des Automobil-Klub für Tirol und Vorarlberg. Innsbruck: Hans Pircher, Ingenieur, Director der städtischen Elektrizitätswerke Innsbruck; Max Dolezalek, Ingenieur, Maschinen-Oberkommissär. Bozen: Tomaso Stolzis, Ingenieur, Trient: Rugero Menestrina, Ingenieur, Trient: Dr. Emanuel Lanzerotti Romeno: Hans Urbanek, Maschinen-Oberkommissär, Bregenz: Franz Grassberger, Ingenieur, Staatsbahn-Inspektor, Feldkirch.

Further information concerning motor traffic, motor tours, roads etc. can be had by applying to the secretary of the Motor Club of Tyrol and Vorarlberg, Innsbruck, Maria Theresienstrasse Nr. 10, where also can be obtained the motor map of Tyrol and Vorarlberg enclosed in a little booklet containing information on Motor Traffic in Tyrol and Vorarlberg: price 3 Kronen, mounted on linen 6 Kronen.

Rules of the Road:

Keep to the right in driving, pass on the left (overtaking), draw up on the right. Maximum speed: on open roads 45 km., in towns and villages, and through crowds 15 km. In foggy weather 6 km.

The following roads require good Motors and clever, cautious Chauffeurs:

Arlberg Road, 12—14% gradient beyond Stuben and Klösterle on long stretches, 10% beyond St. Anton per 4 km.

Scharnitzer Road, from Zirl to Scharnitz (Zirlerberg) uninterruptedly more than 20% gradient, per 5 km. from Zirl to Reith and up to 19% north of Seefeld (Schlossberg).

Brenner Road, 8—13% near Brenner lake, 16% per 1 km near Schelleberg, 12% above Gossensass.

Tannheimer Road, from the Lechthal to the Gaichtpass, 13—20% gradient per 1.3 km.

Reutte Road, 14% gradient beyond Telfs per 1 km. Road much concealed except for short distances ahead.

Neumarkt—Cavalese, 7—10% per 9 km.

Auer—Cavalese, 7—10% per 9 km.

Rollepass Road, per 16 km. 6.5—7% gradient, many turnings at less than 10 meters radius and 90—180 degrees change of direction.

Dolomite Road, in the divisions Canazei—Pordoi—Arabba, then Andraz—Falzaregopass—Cortina, throughout 7.5% gradient, many very sharp bends.

Campolungo Road, Corvara—Arabba, 7.5% gradient, sharp turnings.

Broccone Road, from Primiero in the Valsugana, 7 to 8%.

Custom House Regulations for Motor-Cars and Bicycles.

To get a permit to pass the frontier the motors must be registered, and the respective customs duty deposited. The permits are mostly available for six months or one year.

The customs duty for motor cars amounts to:

a) up to 400 kg.	per 100 kg. Kronen	150.—
b) from more than 400—1800 kg.	" " "	120.—
c) from more than 1800—3200 " " "	" " "	100.—
d) over 3200 kg.	" " "	60.—

The duty must be paid in Austrian coinage. On the frontier towards Germany bank notes of the Deutschen Reichsbank and Deutsche Reichskassenscheine are accepted.

The Benzine in the reservoir of the Motor Cars, is allowed duty free, but the benzine carried in reserve in extra receptacles is taxed.

Spare parts, especially pneumatics may be also registered under the condition of deposited duty. On leaving the country either the spare or the old pneumatic must be produced. The customs duty on pneumatics is 150 Kronen per 100 kg.

The clubs to whom motoring on guarantee is permitted duty free are the following:

1. Touring Club Italiano, Mailand; 2. Deutscher Touring Club, München; 3. Kartell der europäischen Radfahrerverbände in München; 4. Deutscher Radfahrerbund, Potsdam; 5. Allgemeine Radfahrer-Union "Deutscher Tourenklub" in Strassburg [Fürth]; 6. Oesterreich. Touring-Klub in Wien; 7. Sächsischer Radfahrerbund; 8. Automobilklub St. Gallen; 9. Lokalverband der Radfahrer München and Umgebung; 10. Touring Club de France in Paris; 11. Touring Club de Belgique in Brussels; 12. Bicycle Club München; 13. Ciclyst's Touring Club London; 14. Club Ciclistico Patmanova; 15. Schweiz. Velozipedisten-Bund Zürich; 16. Arbeiter Radfahrer-Bund "Solidarität" Offenbach a. M.; 17. Süddeutsch.-Schweiz. Radfahrerverband Radolfszell; 18. Schweiz. Alpen Club Freiburg; 19. Unione Velocipedistica Udine; 20. Deutsche Motorfahrervereinigung München; 21. Oesterr. Automobilclub Wien.

Customs Duty on Bicycles.

The members of the Deutschen Radfahrer-Bund, the Schweizer Radfahrerbundes, and the Tiroler Radfahrerbundes are allowed to import and export cycles, motor-cycles and cycle-cars duty free. For foreign cycles without legitimation 60 Kronen duty is to be deposited when passing the Austrian frontier. No duty is demanded on the German frontier. For Italy a deposit of Lire 42.60, for Switzerland Francs 70 per 100 kg. is charged.

The amount is refunded on leaving the respective country.

Cycle-guides of Tyrol and Vorarlberg are to be had of the Tiroler Radfahrerverband in Innsbruck on remittance of K 1.20. Cycling tours are made out gratis by the above mentioned association.

Important Resorts in Tirol.

[Munich] Kufstein—Innsbruck.

The Lower Inn Valley

from Kufstein to Innsbruck.

The Lower Inn Valley through which the Inn flows, popularly called "Unterland", is a longitudinal valley remarkable for great landscape beauties, and forms by its extension from St. Johann—Woergl to Innsbruck the border between the Northern Limestone Alps (Waidringer Alps, Kaisergebirge [Ellmauer Haltspitze 7,813 ft.], Rofangruppe [Hochiss 7,663 ft.], the Karwendelgebirge [Birkkarspitze 9,186 ft.]) and the Salzburg—Tirolean Slate formations (Kitzbühler Alps, Hopfgartner—Glemmtalergruppe [Kreuzjoch 8,530 ft. and Gaisstein 7,886 ft.], Tuxer Schist Mountains [Reckner 9,606 ft.]). The former are mostly bare and rugged, the latter are clothed from top to bottom in verdant green.

The inhabitants are mostly prosperous, good natured and always ready for a joke. Singing, music and theatre form a great part in the lives of the peasants. Nearly every village has a band of its own. The Lower Inn Valley is the birth place of the popular national songs which sound nowhere so clear as in this their national home. Beautiful old costumes may occasionally be seen. The chief centres of tourist traffic in the Lower Inn Valley are Kufstein, Kitzbühel, the Lake of Achen, Jenbach, Brixlegg and the upper Ziller Valley. Hall and Heiligenkreuz are renowned for the brine of the salt-mines of Hall.

Kufstein, 1,610 ft., 5,000 inhabitants. Stopping-station of express trains. Post and interurban telephone. Frontier of Bavaria and Tyrol. Chief custom house. [Lindau—Vorarlberg]—St. Anton—Landeck—Innsbruck.

Austrian State Railway.

The Arlberg Railway runs in the western direction from Innsbruck towards the Arlberg, through which it passes by a tunnel, 34166 ft. long. The tunnel was commenced in 1880 and completed in 1883, it has a gradient of 2" 00 to its point of culmination (4370 ft.) and descends 15" 00 to Langen the western terminus. The line itself from Innsbruck to Bludenz has a length of 161 km. and was built at a cost 84,000,000 Kronen.

The Stanzer Valley, Upper Inn Valley and Ausserfern.

The Stanzer Valley from St. Anton on the Arlberg to Landeck and the upper Inn Valley from Landeck to Innsbruck forms the line of separation between the northern Limestone Alps and the southern Primeval Alps (Primeval rocks). The lower group of the northern Limestone Alps are: The Algäuer Alps (Hohes Licht 8956 ft.), the Lechtaler Alps — Parseierchain (Parseierspitze 10,126 ft.) and the Rotwand group (Waldgrubenspitze 9,186 ft.) then east of the line Murnau—Ehrwald—Fernpass—Imst the Wetterstein-group belonging to the northern Limestone Alps (Zugspitze 9,560 ft.) and the Miemingergebirge (Hohe Griesspitze (9,196 ft.). The lower group of the Uralpen (Primeval Alps): The Silvretta-gruppe (Piz Linard 11,380 ft.), the Verwallgruppe (Kuchenspitze 10,566 ft.), the Oetztaler Alps (Wildspitze 12,580 ft.) and the Stubai-Alps (Zuckerhütl 11,703 ft. and Schrankogel 11,666 ft.

All these mountains are much higher and more rugged than those of the Lower Inn Valley. The valleys are narrower, the vegetation not so luxuriant, yet there are more natural beauties in this district, than in any other of Tyrol. The Allemanian "Oberländer" is entirely different in character to the "Unterländer". He is more earnest and saving and is very pious.

The Stubai Railway.

Narrow-gauge. Electric Local railroad, (1 meter gauge) Innsbruck - Fulpmes. Built by Engineer Riehl, Innsbruck.

From the station Wilten-Stubai the line runs along the cemetery of Wilten, where it joins the street tramline Innsbruck — Hall, and then on in the direction of the Brenner road, through a 160 m. long tunnel to the "Plateau" (station near Sonnenburgerhof). From the Plateau the line mounts to Gärberbach, and after many curves reaches the villages of Natters and Mutters. From here it runs in a western direction, then again south to the Mutterergraben, through a tunnel 150 meters long it passes over the viaduct 120 meters long and 27 meters high. The next stations are Raitis and Kreit. Near Kreit the line leaves the Inn valley and ascends along the slopes of the Ruetzbach to Kreitergraben where it passes over an iron bridge 32 meters high and 130 meters long. Passing through larch woods and the village Telfes it winds in many curves till it reaches the terminus Fulpmes (18.2 km). Trains run every $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr., all trains are connected with the street tramcars.

The height of the railroad enables passengers to get a fine view of the beautifully formed mountains of the Inn Valley and the glaciers of the Stubai. The plateaus of Natters and Mutters are most picturesquely situated among green meadows, which form a most pleasing contrast to the woods and forest which surround them.

An electric cable railroad will shortly be built in Fulpmes leading to the alp Frohneben (4,350 ft.). The line will be 650 meters long, greatest gradient $550\frac{0}{1000}$.

Meran.

A new road leads through the beautiful Schnalser valley to Neuratteis. The Schnalser Valley is especially suited for all kinds of tourist traffic. Large inns in Neuratteis (3,136 ft., are Gasthaus Neuratteis, Gasthaus zur Rose and Kurzras). In the inn zur schönen Aussicht, 9,093 ft., $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. below the Hochjochferner is excellent accommodation for alpinists.

Meran, 1,080 ft., 20,000 inhab. Chief station of the Vinschgau railway. Post and telegraph office. Interurban telephone. Junction to Bozen-Innsbruck, Vienna, Munich, Riva. 74 cure doctors. 8 sanatoriums. 4 chemists. 2 travel bureaus. Forwarding agents etc. All affairs of the health resort is conducted by the cure committee. Renowned health resort consisting of three parishes Meran, Ober and Untermais, Gratsch. Season: September till end of June. Tourist-season.

1. Position, climatic and local conditions.

On both banks of the romantic Passer are beautiful gently sloping promenades. Meran, Obermais and Untermais are suburbs of Meran. Gratsch lies $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. walk east of Meran. The resort is situated 1,030—1,733 ft. above the level of the sea. The favourable climate of Meran, to which is due its world wide reputation is mainly due to its exceptionally favourable position. Sheltered against the inclemency of the northern climate by high mountain ranges, spurs of the Öetztal Alps, and by a perpendicular mountain screen 10,000 ft. high, Meran enjoys without hindrance the direct rays of the morning, midday and afternoon sun. The east and west winds are considerably diminished by its protective mountain barrier, ranging from 6000—8333 feet, so that Meran is justly praised as being one of the calmest health resorts on the continent.

According to the official meteorological observations the amount of moisture on an average 10 years, during the season (1. Sep. — end of May) is a little above 64%. Also on the same average there were registered in Meran during the season 197 sunny calm days, 32 days of slight sunshine, 10 rainy and 7 snowy days per annum.

Meran has a mild subalpine climate. The winter is comparatively warm, with, for the most part, a singulary clear sky, and an almost absolute freedom from wind. Falls of rain or snow are not frequent.

2. The Sanitary Arrangements of the health resort are excellent. Mountain spring water has been newly laid on in Ober- and Untermais, and the laying on of the mountain spring water in Meran has been completed and extended (finished in January 1908). Complete sewerage throughout the town and Ober- and Untermais. Clean, well kept gravelled promenades and roads, free from dust, every possible restriction of firing with coals and frequent watering the paths. Electric light every where. (Vaccum Cleaner)

3. Visitors' Traffic.

Since Meran has enlarged and extended its aids to health, its clientèle circle has considerable increased. The number of patients, especially heart disease and nervous debility patients, has increased from year to year. Last season the number of visitors amounted to over 27 thousand.

4. Indications for Meran.

Meran is recommendable.

1. For Convalescence.
2. For all chronic diseases of the respiratory organs, lungs and pleura.
3. For ear complaints.
4. For diseases of the lymphatic glands.
5. For malaria and its after effects.
6. For all hereditary disease, especially children, for simple catarrh of the apex of the lungs, free from fever.

7. For arteriosclerotic and aged people needing a favourable climate during the winter months.
8. For rachitis, scofuloses, morbus Basedowii.
9. For diseases of the blood.
10. For many forms of heart disease.
11. For irregularities in change of matter.
12. For nervous diseases.
13. For diseases of the digestive organs and liver.
14. For all kinds of muscle-, bone- and joint-rheumatism, for neuralgia and all kinds of gouty ailments.
15. For kidney and vesical diseases.

Finally, Meran is to be recommended as a intermediate health resort in autumn and spring (in September, October, half of November, March, April and May) to and from the farther south for patients needing much warmth, and for whom the winter months (December, January and the first half of February) would be too cold. This concerns chiefly very anaemic, emaciated, phthisic and leucaemic persons and sufferers from kidney disease.

Meran is not recommendable for all diseases of the respiratory organs for which a great humidity of the air is a chief requisite.

5. Aids to Health.

a) The air of Meran is its most curative agent.

Open air cures can be taken partly while walking, sitting or in Bath chairs, as well as by lying in the open air. There is ample provision for every species of open air cure. For this purpose there are no less than nine kilometers of splendid and well kept promenades liberally furnished with seats. There is also in Meran a covered-walk, 100 m. long, and another rather shorter covered-walk in Obermais.

Ample accommodation in every pension, for the lying down cures, either in beautiful, sheltered gardens, partly on balconies or under verandahs facing south.

b) New health- and bathing establishment, opened in 1907, built at a cost of 1 million Kronen. Carbonate, radio-active and all other kinds of modern medicinal baths. Covered swimming bath. Inhalatorium. Steam-, shower-, douche-, sun- and air-baths. Hall for Zander's medical gymnastics. Public bath. Hydrotherapy etc.

c) New hospital (opened 1907), medical, surgical and optical departments.

d) Dietetic cures. The cuisine in the hotels in Meran is good, plentiful, and offers great variety so that diet cures are easily possible. The milk of Meran is renowned, especially the so-called controlled bottle milk; from cows vaccinated with „Bacillus tuberculosis“. Sterilized milk and milk freed from fat, kefir and goats whey, Kumys and yoghurt.

e) Grape cure (fruit cures). The Grapes of Meran — 20% sugar and about 1 % glair — are of great nutritious value. Best time are the months of September and October. Apple cures are to be recommended.

f) Inhalation and pneumatic cures in the inhalatorium in the health-establishment, which provides beside ordinary mineral water inhalations (Siegl's and Schmitzler's methods) 7 rooms for the Clar and Bulling method, two halls for brine- and lignosulphite-sprays, inhalation apparatuses for medicament sprays (menthol, eucalyptus, creasote etc.), a pneumatic room for 4 persons, Mathieu's apparatuses for inhaling compressed air and exhaling into thin, oxygen and ozon-inhalations.

g) Water cures. The climate of Meran and the warmth of the midday sun in winter, are such, that water cures can be taken at any time of the year.

Beside the public baths, open to every one in the health establishment, there are 6 private bathing-establishments.

h) Walking cures. Thanks to its sheltered position and its numerous level and gently ascending, well kept promenades, Meran is especially adapted for walking cures: all requirements (distance-maps, road divisions etc.) indicated by Prof. Oertel.

i) Light cures. Meran is particularly suited for sun baths. Besides accommodations for electric baths in the bathing establishments, some doctors have arrangements for radiotherapy.

k) Massage- and hygienic gymnastics in the new health establishment.

l) Electrotherapy.

m) Sport: Large sporting grounds fitted up with every modern comfort. Many tennis courts, football-ground, hockey-, cycle- and riding-grounds. Gymnastic-grounds for adults and children, skating rink and grounds for all modern games. Horse races in spring and autumn, and trotting races. Wintersport in Vinschgau.

6. Music, Theatre, Peasants' Plays and Amusements.

The cure band plays two hours every day, morning and afternoon. New town theatre in modern style, the renowned peasants' theatre, a speciality of Meran well worth seeing (representing the wars of liberty of Tyrol in 1809. Representations given in the spring and autumn in the peasants open air theatre, by a company of over 300 Tyrolean peasants.

Besides there are: Balls, concerts (classic and chamber music), social evenings. Opportunity for exercising all kinds of sports, target shooting, fishing, hunting, tennis, golf and croquet, skating rink, good toboggan-run (toboggan club), riding (riding club), horse-races and national fêtes. Excursions into the surroundings.

7. Cure Tax up to a stay of 70 days in the season (1st Sep. to June) in three classes for adults 70, 50 and 35 heller per day.

8. Divine Services.

Catholic services in the different churches. Protestant service in the Stephani-Promenade. Church of England services in the English church near the Meranerhof. Russian services in the Russian church in Untermais. Jewish services in the synagogue.

Meran is the centre of the old "Burggrafenamt" (district of the old county-court of Meran, with the districts of Lana and Passeier etc.) The country people still wear the beautiful national costumes.

The wild romantic Eggental, through which flows the Karadaunerbach separates the Latemar group (west Latemar 9,496 ft.) Fassaner Dolomites from the Rosengarten group (Kesselkogel 10,006 ft.).

Since the building of the new road (1860 till Welschnofen, 1895 to Fassa) but especially since the erection of the new Karersee Hotel, to which other large inns have been joined, the Eggental, renowned for its wild romantic landscape beauty in the lower part, and through its beautiful woods and meadows and picturesque position of the Latemar and Rosengarten in its upper part, has become the aim of many thousands of tourists and holiday makers.

The Dolomite Road.

"Monography of the Dolomite Road", richly illustrated by Karl Felix Wolff (Bozen), publisher Gotthard Ferrari, Bozen, published 1909 (K 4. —).

Plastic map of the Dolomites with time table of the diligences to be had from the Bureau of the Landesverband für Fremdenverkehr in Innsbruck on receipt of postage.

The Dolomite Road Bozen—Toblach leads through the western wing of the Eggental. This is the finest road in Europe. The last part Cortina—Falzarego was opened on the 11th. Sep. 1909, thus completing the whole of the Dolomite road. This road affords travellers a great variety of ever-changing landscape pictures of the Dolomites of South Tyrol, the most fantastic formations of the mountain world, and beautiful valleys richly wooded, which form a most striking contrast to the rocks towering above them.

The large Dolomite road leading through beautiful mountain valleys and over three passes unites Bozen with Cortina. From Bozen it follows the Brenner road till Kardaun and then turns into the magnificent Porphyry gorge of the Eggental. Pass Birchabruck (2,876 ft.) and Welschnofen (3,910 ft.) and the bright blue-green lake of Karer, in whose waters the beautiful Latemar is reflected, one reaches the Karersee hotel (5,500 ft.) The Latemar with its slender peaks towers above the dark green forest. The road then ascends over the green Alps of the Karer pass (5,803 ft.) where stand the hotels Latemar and Karerpass and then it ascends to the bottom of the Fassatal.

In the North East appear the Langkofel and the Marmolata. Vigo di Fassa the chief place of the valley is situated high on the slopes (4,636 ft.). Beautiful views of the Pozza and Perra. The road leading through these villages is almost level, below the terrible Larsee towers and on to Campitello (4,806 ft.) at the foot of the wild-rugged Langkofel group. Then eastward towards Canazei, on the left the huge steep walls of the Sella, on the right the bold pyramids of the Vernel. Near Canazei (4,876 ft.) an inn has been built by a German company. Near Canazei the road begins to ascend in many windings, affording beautiful views of the lovely valley with its pretty villages, above towers the menacing Langkofel. An hotel stands at the edge of the wood, built by a company from Trient. Soon after one enters the Pordoi pass (7,500 ft.) where the dark peaks of the Padon chain (Sas dal Ciapel) form a phantastic contrast to the pale Dolomites. On the pass is a good small German hospice, under management. The road ascends through alpine meadows to the idyllic spot Arabba (5,373 ft.) behind which rises the Sella like a gigantic fortress. The valley Buchenstein has no hollow. The brook flows in a deep crevice, and on both sides rise the steep slopes up to the rocks. The Pelmo and the Civetta appear in the east. The road runs along the northern slope to Pieve (Pleif 4,916 ft.) in Buchenstein and turns into the intricate wilderness of forest and rocks till to the Alleghe lake and to the huge Civetta (10,733 ft.). The road then ascends up hill to the wooded Andratschtal and the village of the same name, and past the interesting wooden houses of Cerandai.

In the north one sees the tops of the Tofana group. Soon appears in the west beyond the gorge of the river the grey old ruins of Andratsch, a castle rich in historical associations of the prince-bishops of Brixen. The road leads through a winding tunnel in the rocks (Gasthaus Dolomitenziel) and reaches the pass Falzarego (7,056 ft.) full of debris, between Lagazuoi and Nuvolau. Splendid views of the Marmolata. Small hospice. On the right the singular Cinque Torri (Ladin: Zinke Torres). Soon appear on the left the towering rocks of Tofana. On the right rise the bold forms of the Croda da Lago. The way winds round Crepa, with many fine views, all around rise high mountains till one reaches the Ampezza basin with its wreath of Dolomites.

The Suganer Valley.

An excursion from Trient on the Valsugana railway into the beautiful Valsugana valley is to be recommended to every traveller, and not only to those who visit the renowned establishments of Levico and Roncigno to take the baths there. It is one of the most beautiful and most attractive routes, and is the shortest route between Tyrol and Venice. The journey along the large viaduct 15 km. long across the valley of the Etsch, the magnificent view of the valley afforded the traveller, when near Villazano the train has climbed the middle range, and of the town lying below, the drive through the fortified romantic Fersina gorge, to which the fertile Fersina valley crowned by the castle Persen is joined, then the Sugana valley with its Caldonazzo and Levico lakes — all these awaken such an enhancement of impressions, that no one will be able to resist the wonderful charm.

The Lake of Garda.

A pearl of Tyrol and a jewel of unsurpassed beauty of the Alps, celebrated in ancient times and the renowned der lacus Benacus of the Romans, is the largest and finest of the upper Italian Alpine lakes. The romantic landscape of the shores into which the steep rocks of the surrounding mountains sink, the slopes covered with olive groves and lemon gardens, the wonderful colour effect of the lake, the balmy southern atmosphere all contribute towards making the lake, one of the most beautiful places of sojourn.

By the local tramway Mori, junction of the southern railway station, one reaches the Lake of Garda (daily 6 trains, I. and III. class). The line leads through vineyards and rocky mountains, past the dark-green Loppio lake to the height of Nago (station for Torbole $\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. distance). Behind Nago beautiful view of the Lake. On the left the broad ridge of the Monte Baldo, on the right Monte Creino. Through a broad fertile valley flows the Sarca river. Up the slopes of the mountains the railroad ascends to
